R

E

3.2. The policy title should be simple and short. The title should express the way in which the policy will be referred to in future and need not include the word 'policy'. Reference to a policy may be made by way of number, title or a combination of number and title.

- 3.3. The policy statement shall be a statement of the County's overall intent in the area of responsibility covered by the policy, and shall include a policy statement, purpose and principles.

R

- 3.4. Definitions: The first section of the policy shall contain any definitions necessary for clarification of contents of the policy. If there are none, use "(none)

- 3.5. Responsibilities: The second section of the policy shall contain a detailed breakdown of responsibilities for all aspects of the procedure. Responsibility will be defined in order of organizational hierarchy as follows:

O

Chief Administrative Officer
Directors
Managers
Staff
Members of the Public

C

- 3.6. Items of policy sufficiently explained in the responsibilities section need not be repeated in the body of the Procedure.

E

- 3.7. All pages are to be numbered and have the policy number attached, plus the effective date.

- 3.8. Arrange all the details of the policy or procedure in such a way that the readers will find it logical and clear the first time they read it.

D

- 3.9. Group the information being presented in procedures into subjects. Use bold headings and underlining where appropriate. Use numbers and indents to itemize steps or show a progression. Avoid repeating the same information and use the standard format demonstrated by this policy at all times.

- 3.10. Flow charts are encouraged to show a sequence of operations.

U

- 3.11. The writing style should stress clarity, consistency and simplicity. The text of the policy should use short sentences, correct spelling and good punctuation.

- 3.12. The third and subsequent sections of a policy shall contain the corporate procedures necessary to carry out the direction of Council. Departmental procedures shall be developed in a similar format to this policy format and shall, following the approval of the Chief Administrative Officer be inserted in the policy manual behind the relevant policy and shall be numbered as a the policy (e.g. 1001-01).
